Golden Gater

Norma Swain Named Fall Editor; Vic Spingolo Managing Editor

Norma Swain, junior, was named editor in chief of the Golden Gater, for the Fall semester of 1951, at the publication's semi-annual banquet held at Julio's Restaurant, 1335 Grant Avenue, last Wednesday night.

Victor Spingolo, present drama critic and editorial assistant, was appointed as managing editor.

Victor Spingolo's experience includes several editorial positions on his high school paper, the McClymonds Record, high school page editor of the Oakland Shopping News, plus two years' work on the Golden Gater staff.

Miss Swain, a journalism major, began her journalistic work by writing for the Bingham High School publication of Bingham Canyon, Utah. She later served as editor of the Aurora, a publication put out by the high school students of Seldovia Territorial School, Seldovia, Alaska.

PRESENT NEWS EDITOR

As for her collegiate career, the pretty blue-eyed blonde worked on the daily University of Utah Chronicle and served as the Golden Gater's news editor this semester.

LARRICK SUMMER CHIEF

Dick Larrick, a top feature writer with an impressive background at the City College of San Francisco, and present editorial assistant, was named editor of the summer session Golden Gater. Other positions for the summer were announced as Vic Spingolo, managing editor; Adrienne Hoffhine, news editor; and Neysa deGarcia, feature editor.

Bonnie Rolphe, Campus Ramblings columnist and outgoing Golden Gater managing editor, was mistress of ceremonies of the affair.

The award to the outstanding journalist went to Frank Galo.

Summer Confab For Teachers

The college has recently announced a pre-summer session conference for elementary and secondary teachers, counselors, supervisors and administrators who wish to improve their teaching methods.

The course offers compact summaries of recent discoveries in group behavior that help the classroom teachers and all the school staff. First hand experience in group interaction will be provided by Ruth Morgan's clinics and "Skills Sessions" conducted by demonstration under the leadership of Hilda Taba.

Registration for the conference, which will be held June 18 to 22, begins at 8 o'clock Monday, June 18, in Frederic Burk Auditorium. Fees will be $7.50 for one unit of credit. For further information write to Fred Wilhelms, San Francisco State College.

New Yell Leaders For Fall Named

Yell leader tryouts earlier this week resulted in the appointment of Barbara Litchfield, Rachelle Reyes, Carol Bennefield, Barbara Caruso, Joe Kimura and Bob Sherman as the yell leader selection for the Fall 1951 semester.

The latter two fellows are also experienced tumblers. There is still an opening for a head yell leader, however. Any fellow who is interested in trying out for the position should contact Barbara Caruso, JU. 5-7053.

Judges for the yell leader tryouts were Willis Wood, Dick Sperison, Bob Keropian and Al Hilbert. The candidates were selected on the basis of their ability to lead yells, their agility, their personality and their appearance in relation to representing State.

Attention Summer Vets!

All veterans who plan to attend Summer Session under the State bill and who have not previously made arrangements with the California Veterans' Educational Institute, must see Mr. R. A. Gilmore today in Anderson Hall, Room 113, between the hours of 2 and 5. Forms should be secured from Mrs. Cordoni in the Business Office, Room 111, College Hall, before seeing Mr. Gilmore.

SLIGHT MISTAKE

Mr. Runar Stone, superintendent of buildings and grounds, announces that the Laguna Street "entrance" is not an entrance, but a loading platform.

Students have been using the passageway to get to the Golden Gater office or to the college bus. Recently a student broke his arm while going out to the street.

Mr. Stone stressed that at no time was it intended that the doorway be used as an entrance for students.

State Assembly Passes Universal Student Card Bill

13 to 3 Vote Puts New Bill on Way Again

The first step in a five point program to revive the universal student body card was taken Wednesday in Sacramento when the Assembly Education Committee passed Bill No. 827, companion to the old universal card bill, which was defeated last week.

Groundwork for the Assembly committee hearing of the new bill, proposed by Assemblyman Ernest R. Geddes from Claremont, was laid by students of various colleges Tuesday and Wednesday and, after considerable debate, the committee passed the bill by a vote of 13 to 3. One amendment was added. It provided that the maximum fee should be reduced from $25 to $20 per year.

Representing State College at the hearing were Robert Katz, administrator of student affairs; Pat Gilkeson, member-at-large on the Board of Directors, and Al Wollenberg, student.

Mr. Wollenberg was helpful in lining up votes during the day, and Miss Gilkeson presented a vital portion of the testimony before the committee.

"Pat swung the tide in committee," said Katz. "She did a magnificent job."

If the newly passed bill goes through the Assembly floor, it will be sent back to the Senate Education committee; then to the floor of the Senate. If it goes favorably through the Senate, it will automatically become law upon the signing by the Governor.

Pontious Honor S Prexy

Courtney Pontious was recently elected president of the newly-founded Honor S Society. Other officers are Pat Gilkeson, vice president; Bonnie Rolphe, recording secretary, Sharon McDonnell, corresponding secretary, and Ken Shelley, public relations. Dean John Bergstresser was chosen as faculty sponsor.

San Francisco State Holds Radio Workshop Today

Representatives From Radio Industry Meet

San Francisco State College will hold the "First San Francisco State College Radio Industry Workshop" at the college today at 3 p.m. in the Activities Room.

This meeting will be for students who are planning to be teachers, businessmen and community leaders, as well as for those who are going into radio. The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint the student with the radio industry and to show them how it operates.

Representing the radio industry from San Francisco will be Arthur Hull Hayes, manager of KCBS; William Pabst, manager of KFRC; John Thomson, news and special events director of KNBC; Gayle Grub, manager of KGO-TV and KGO; Stan Dreyer, commercial manager of KJBS; Harold See, general manager of KRON-TV; Marvin Larson of IBEW, Local 202; Howard J. Smiley, manager of KSMO, San Mateo; and William S. Gavin, of the American Federation of Radio Artists, San Francisco local.

J. Paul Leonard, president of San Francisco State College, will give the welcome. Arthur Hull Hayes, general manager of KCBS, and William Pabst, general manager of KFRC, will be the speakers at the evening session.

The radio department has an enrollment of over 200, the largest in the college history.

Elected officers of the Radio Guild are Greg Prichard, program director; Dave McElhatton, production director; Jack Kalman, education director; Jeanne Williams, business manager.

All students are invited to the affair. Admission is free to the panel discussions.

Interior Design Show Continues Today, Monday

The interior design classes of Miss Evelyn Erickson will sponsor three events next week. Each is relative to the field of interior design with topics of general interest to the entire school.

Starting next Monday, an architectural exhibit will be shown in the Activities room. Model homes, floor plans and suggestions for interior decoration will be presented every day Monday through Friady.

Chairmen of the show will be Joseph Waters and Frank Geistman.

Tuesday at 1 p.m. Mr. Don Emmons, of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, Architects, will speak and show pictures in Room 208, College Hall.

Mr. Emmons, has built many of the Bay Area schools and residences. He is an advocate of young people doing some work on their own homes to cut the high costs of building, which exists today.

During class period on Thursday Mr. Edward Williams of Eckbo, Royston and Williams, landscape designers, will speak in Room 211, College Hall. Although space is limited, a few non-class members may attend the talk if they speak to Miss Erickson prior to the class.

'FRISCO' JOINS STATE

President Leonard was forced to interrupt his usual morning routine last Tuesday to muzzle a snappy new member of the student body who had just arrived from Central America by air to attend State. Why? He's a live baby alligator!

After some of the shock had worn off, Dr. Leonard managed to subdue the reptile by using his secretary as a lure. His final words to the new student member were, "I wonder what subject it's going to major in?"

The party responsible for the appearance of the already named "Frisco," is Beverely Kaeppel, student here. Her motives, as yet, have not been made clear. No one knows whether she really wanted State to have a new mascot, or cause the disappearance of a college president.

Summer Session Begins June 26; Post on August 7

Applications By Mail Accepted Until June 16

San Francisco State Summer Session will begin Tuesday, June 26. Students are asked to make application by mail to the office of summer sessions not later than Saturday, June 16. Regular class instruction for the six-week session begins Tuesday, June 26, and class instruction for the post session begins Tuesday, August 7. Classes meet Monday through Friday during the regular and post sessions.

Registration and payment of fees for the six-week session will be Saturday, June 23, from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 3, and Monday, June 25, from 8:30 to 12 and from 1 to 3. Registration and payment of fees for the post session will be Monday, August 6, from 8:30 to 12 and from 1 to 3. In the six-week session six units is the maximum academic program, with an additional one-half unit for activity courses.

Tuition for the first session and for the post session is $7.50 per unit. Private music lessons are $4 per lesson, and student activities and welfare fee is $2.

A portion of the summer session tuition fee charged any student may be refunded if written application for the refund is filed in the business office by the close of the second week of the session in which the student registered. The tuition fees shall be refunded on the basis of $1.50 per unit retained to cover the cost of registration, and $1.50 per unit will be retained for each week or fraction thereof for which a student is registered.

Counseling of new students will take place concurrently with registration on Saturday, June 23, and Monday, June 25. Students enrolled in the General Education program should plan their summer programs with their regular advisers. Entering freshmen will be assigned advisers through the office of the Dean of Student personnel; entering freshmen should plan their programs with the assigned adviser.

All information regarding summer session may be obtained from Miss Florence Vance, Registrar, or from Mr. James B. Enochs, director.

ROTC Leader on Campus

Lieutenant Colonel John K. Harvey of the Air Force has centralized, temporarily, his office in the office of Dean Alan Johnson. Lieutenant Colonel Harvey is head of the Air Force R.O.T.C. program soon to be inaugurated at the college.

Senior Ball Scheduled Tomorrow at Fairmont

Board Approves Ouster of Music Fed, Kappa Delta Pi

Block S, Agatheans Hygiene on Probation

The Board of Directors accepted part of CAA's recommendations last Tuesday and voted to suspend Kappa Delta Pi and the Music Federation from on-campus standing for the remainder of this semester, while Block S, Christian Agatheans and Mental Hygiene Society were placed on probation.

Originally CAA had recommended to the board that all of the organizations be suspended from on-campus standing for failure to comply with a CAA ruling which stipulates that no organization may miss two or more meetings a semester. Kappa Delta Pi and Music Federation have missed three meetings, while the other organizations have each missed two.

It was felt by the board that since Kappa Delta Pi and the Music Federation had been on probation already that they should be suspended, while the other three organizations should only be placed on probation.

The motion by Ed Simon was made after long debate and the failure to pass of a previous motion to suspend all of the organizations.

The two suspended organizations may petition the board next semester for on-campus standing, but will have all rights and privileges of on-campus standing denied for the remainder of this semester.

Stan Culligan Junior President

Burley Halloran Class Secretary-Treasurer

Future juniors elected Stan Culligan to the post of junior class president on Thursday, May 17, at a meeting scheduled to fill the vacant junior class offices of president and secretary-treasurer. (The offices of president and secretary-treasurer were open because no one ran for them in the annual spring elections.) The meeting was held in Anderson Hall 210 at 1:00.

Bob Block, Pat Gilkeson and Stan Culligan were the presidential nominees with Culligan winning.

For the office of secretary-treasurer, Gail Wendt, Marianne Nyhan and Burley Halloran were suggested. Burley Halloran won. Nominations were made from the floor for both offices.

"Only about 44 future juniors showed up to vote," said Mary Ann Earl, vice president. Mary Ann ran unopposed in the annual elections.

"I would like to get the junior class going stronger in the activities of the school," stated Culligan. He also expressed hopes that the junior prom would be a financial success and that the class could possibly hold a picnic or a beach party next year. "I am looking for suggestions and ideas and anyone who would like to work for the class is welcome," Culligan added. His P. O. Box number is 5770.

State Puts on Western

Continuing its 13-week series over KSMO, Radio Guild will present "Frontier Fighters" at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Dick Foy's Orchestra Sets Tempo For Year's Top Event

Climaxing the social calendar of events for this semester is the Senior Ball, to be held tomorrow night in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

Couples will dance to the music of Dick Foy and his orchestra from 9 to 1. Dick Coltrell is general chairman for the gala affair, which is to be strictly formal.

Greta Smith and Norma Wirth are in charge of decorations. The tickets committee is composed of Janet Nye, Barbara Stetson, Willie Malmborg, Bev Field, Anita Foge, Wally Stasek and Barbara Falk.

Bill Wells, Sam Etchepari, Al Wollenberg, Art Chaboya and Jack Caruso will carry out the functions of floor committee.

Dick Coltrell, Andy Andreason (class president), Greta Smith and Jean Giovannoni will be at the door to greet the prom-goers.

Those doing general work on and for the ball are Maurice Besse, Pete Aldrete, Don Fisher, Russ Messerole and Courtney Pontious.

Refreshments will be served at a coke bar set up by the hotel management.

PURPLE AND GOLD

Tallies of purple felt and gold metallic paper, with gold tassels will be handed out to the ladies.

Among other distinguished guests present will be Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard.

Tickets, $3.00 per couple, are on sale in the student body office, in the booth in the basement of College Hall, and will also be on sale at the door tomorrow night.

"We hope everyone will take advantage of the wonderful evening they will have in store for them if they attend this senior ball," commented Andreason.

"A great night is planned for all in attendance," put in Coltrell. "I'm sure everyone will be glad they attended the dance of the year in the Terrace Room," he added.

SENIOR PICNIC

Highlighting other senior activities is the picnic, to be held June 3 at Adobe Creek Lodge, located down the Peninsula, to which everyone is invited to come and bring his lunch.

The traditional senior pilgrimage June 7, from 9 to 11, will feature the pilgrimage of seniors, donned in cap and gown to various "landmarks" of State. President J. Paul Leonard, a representative from student government and various faculty and seniors will speak.

Seniors may rent their caps and gowns from the college bookstore beginning today, to June 8. $2.00 will be charged for the A.B. Degree cap, gown and hood.

The senior luncheon will also take place June 7. It is to be held in the Italian Room of the St. Francis Hotel from 12:30 to 3:00.

OPEN LETTER

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to all of the people who helped make the first annual State Fair a success. I especially want to thank Bill Hansen for the work and time he expended in organizing the entire affair. I realize, of course, that it took the efforts of many people to carry out the project but it is impossible for me to thank each one individually. Therefore, I use this means to thank all of them collectively. I wish to thank also the entire student body for its support. The turn out for this affair was very gratifying and indicates that this type of project can be carried on in the future.

All of the indoor events played to capacity houses, the dance was successful and in general the financial return exceeded our greatest expectations. This type of success can only be accomplished through the hard work and cooperation of the entire student body.

I wish to thank again those people who served on the various committees and carried on the physical work, without their efforts the affair could not have taken place.

Burk Faraola,
President ASSFSC.

Drama Awards to Highlight Banquet Next Tuesday

Presentation of Alpha Psi Omega Kudoes Set

Any bets, speculators? Alpha Psi Omega is awarding the annual drama "Oscars" at its banquet this coming Tuesday at 6:30 in the Co-op. The awards will be presented for outstanding performances in last year's drama productions. These include "Ladies in Retirement," "Joan of Lorraine" and drama workshops.

The awards will be given for the best actor, actress, student director and technical man. Virginia Cox and Norman Bartold were the recipients of last year's actor-actress awards. No student who has won an award in previous years is eligible for another in the same capacity.

Program for the banquet includes a guest speaker and a dance.

Tickets for the affair are $2.00 and may be purchased from Tony Bonaccorso and Bill Green at the drama office or from any member of Alpha Psi Omega. Everyone is invited to attend this climaxing event of the drama season.

Caps, Gowns Available

The Student Bookstore will be open tomorrow, Saturday, from 9 to 1 to accommodate those seniors who cannot order their caps and gowns during the regular Bookstore hours.

Senior Luncheon Tickets on Sale

Only a limited number of tickets are available for the Senior Luncheon, so all seniors are urged to purchase theirs immediately. Tickets are on sale for $2.75 per person and are available in the student body office or in the basement of College Hall next week during the noon hours.

The luncheon is to be held in the Italian Room of the St. Francis Hotel on Thursday, June 7, at 12:30. Graduates from the January, June and Summer classes of 1951 are eligible to attend. Husbands and wives of seniors are also invited.

MASTER'S DEGREE PREPARATION

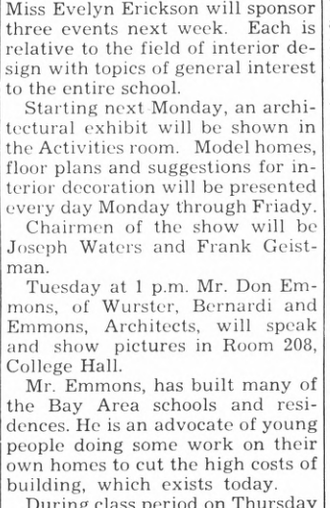
Ralph Lewis Sets European Education Summer Tour

Ralph Lewis, business manager for the Associated Students, informed Burk Faraola, president of the Associated Students, in a recent letter that he had just received confirmation of an appointment to an educational study project, which will "take him beyond the borders of the continental United States on or before July 1, 1951."

Mr. Lewis will return to the United States within six months or less; the project probably will take him through Italy and other countries in that sector of the world. The work project will contribute toward his master's degree, and thus "enhance" his whole career.

Mr. Lewis' decision to accept this opportunity leaves the Associated Students without a business manager. However, Mr. Lewis feels that the business office could continue without any immediate replacement during the usually more inactive summer session. He feels that the office is flexible enough to allow this, and it would result in considerable saving to the Associated Students.

Ralph wrote in his letter: "I am glad to say that I have had the opportunity of working with the finest board the Associated Students has ever had during the last four years. You have stood up magnificently under tremendous strain and the pressure of many perplexing problems.



RALPH LEWIS

"The accomplishments of the past year will contribute materially toward a bigger and better San Francisco State College. I wish also to express my gratitude for your support and loyalty during the times of stress in the early part of the month of December. It was sincere when sincerity was most needed."

Ralph enrolled as a student at State in the fall of 1947. Prior to this time he held a position as assistant manager of the Metro Goldwyn Mayer film exchange.

Ralph attended business school for two years, which led to his first position as secretary to the manager of an export company dealing with the Orient. During his career in the service, Ralph was chief clerk, U. S. Armed Forces, China Command, and in charge of the personnel section of the adjutant general's office. This preceded his position with M.G.M.

He came to State as a freshman in the fall of 1947 and majored n marketing and merchandising. He worked part time as an assistant to the administrator of student affairs. Ralph maintained this position until his graduation in the summer of 1950.

Ralph was offered the position of full-time administrative assistant with the Associated Students. With the induction of John Gray into the armed servces, Ralph was appointed by President Leonard, upon recommendation of the Board of Directors, as acting administrator of student affairs.

Ralph unexpectedly submitted his resignation for the position at the end of the fall 1950 semester, and as a result Bob Katz was appointed to Ralph's previous post. A new position, business manager, was created in a reorganization process.

Ralph Lewis became the selected candidate to fill the position. Ralph has filled this position for the past semester, and now with the latest development of an appointment to an educational study and work project in Europe, he will take leave of the Associated Students.

An Editorial

'Go to Hell'

"Get the hell out of here, we're busy."

That is the greeting that the average student received when he attempted to exercise one of the rights given to him with an Associated Students' card.

If this sounds too strong, ask the people who wanted street car tickets last Thursday at 1 p.m. Many students went away, bitterly denouncing "the privileges of a student body card."

It is nauseating to see our "campus leaders" just sitting and talking petty politics, dances and organizations while the people they represent wait in line to no avail for a street car ticket.

It isn't so much the lack of service that irks the student but the flagrant display of rude, uncalled-for behavior. The Board of Directors supposedly handles street car ticket sales, but their lack of performance is understandable . . . these students of high caliber have other commitments, such as committee meetings, social functions and even classes. That can be forgiven, but lack of courtesy is unforgivable.

It must be pointed out, however, that only a small segment of the student government is guilty of this lack of courtesy, but as in all cases, the bad overshadows the good.

The guilty ones should take a lesson from their fellow class leaders or Frances Wesenberg and her business office crew, or take a public relations course or jump into the nearest garbage can, where they belong.

San Francisco State Fair

The San Francisco State Fair is now a thing of the past, recorded in the glorious history of the college. There were many skeptical persons who never thought the fair would be a reality. All sorts of obstacles and barriers confronted the people behind the project. Last Friday the college was treated to one of its better days with the realization of the State Fair.

Congratulations are in order to William Hansen, activities commissioner, who "brainstormed" the extravagant program. However, Hansen couldn't have done the job without the help of so many cogs . . . Christina Zieman, Norrie Volk, Dick Clark, Nancy Carter, Willis Wood, Bob Sherman and hundreds of others.

Not to be forgotten is Bob Katz, administrator of student affairs. Katz has been the subject of much criticism ever since he took his post last February. He more than proved himself during the State Fair and is to be commended. Maybe he is just what State needs.

'Singing For Fun' and Visual Aids Added to Summer Music Program

"Singing for fun" is the theme for the new Summer Session chorus, which will be offered by the Music Department.

In this course a variety of choral literature is presented to fit the future needs of educational majors. The class schedule includes sacred, folk, operatic and A Cappella music. The chorus will, on occasion, collaborate with the college symphony, which meets at the same hour under the direction of Dr. Wendell Otey.

Directed by Dr. Sterling Wheelwright, the chorus will be held daily, starting June 25 at 2:10-3:25 p.m.

There are no prerequisites for entrance, and the course yields one-half unit of credit, which may be taken in addition to the average maximum of six units.

Also this summer the Music Department will introduce a new plan of visual aids in the Music Appreciation (s153) course.

Simplified symphonic scores have been newly microfilmed, and together with educational movies and "movie-concerts," will help the general college student to find his way about a variety of concert and radio music.

This course is scheduled daily at 1:10 p.m.

Neuro-semantics Workshop Here

Dr. William H. Pemberton, a local phychologist, will visit the campus this summer to conduct a workshop and seminar in the comparatively new science of neuro-semantics, the Division of Language Arts announced today.

Neuro-semantics is a field of study concerned with the interrelation of human beings and their symbol systems. It is an attempt to diagnose the misevaluation based upon human communication failures.

The seminar will be listed in the catalogue as English s239.1 and the workshop as English s239.2. Each course will carry three units and will be open to upper division and graduate students only.

Kon-Tiki Feature Film at Vogue

Based on the best selling novel, "Kon-Tiki," the film by that title, covering a Pacific Ocean raft voyage from South America to the South Seas, now showing locally.

Because of the popularity of Thor Heyerdahl's book of the expedition, which has been translated into seven languages, many people have become acquainted with the background for this unique film record. The motion picture attempts to prove Heyerdahl's theory that the ancient Peruvians of South America migrated to the Polynesian islands by making the same voyage on a similar raft.

Footage for the film was shot on a 16-mm. camera by various members of the six-man crew during their 101 day sail along the channel of the Humboldt current. Heyerdahl provides explanatory comments on the day-to-day incidents and the varied events of their exciting sea-faring trip.

Speech Students To Air Views

The Speech Department's intercultural will participate in a panel on the KSFO radio program, "The Franciscians United" tomorrow night at 8:15.

Miss Eleanor Bushnell, instructor of speech, will act as moderator on the program. The following students will also take part: Al Savedra, Alice Schigezumi, Alberta Henderson, Walter Kintz, Nick Vander Dusen, Anne Minaker and Bernard Leebhoff.

This marks the twelfth public speaking appearance of the semester for the panel. Most of these ppearances have been before business groups and high school assemblies.

Miss Bushnell announced that the panel would continue next semester. One unit of credit is given for participation. Present plans, according to Miss Bushnell, call for the formation of two panels if enough students are interested.

Stater Has Song Aired Over KRE

Vera Preobrajensky, transfer student majoring in music, will have her song, "Why Don't You Tell Me?" aired over Station KRE tomorrow over the "Song Debut" program at 1:45 p.m. The program is under the auspices of Twentieth Century Agency of Oakland.

Accordingto the agency, Miss Preobrajensky's song will be new hit within eight months. The song was written with the aid of James Grillo, Hayward school teacher.

Miss Preobrajensky has studied composition with Darius Milhand, Roger Sessions, Frederick Jacobs and Alex Tcherepnine.

San Francisco State's Air Raid Program Planned

Dean Butler Anticipates Completion By Summer

Dr. John H. Butler, executive dean, revealed that preparations are being made to establish an adequate program for air raid protection, including atom bomb attack.

Dean Butler, after making an extensive investigation of the facilities available here at State in case of a catastrophe, was appointed by President J. Paul Leonard to formulate a master plan to be executed in any emergency.

While progress on this plan has been slow thus far, says Dean Butler, everything will be in readiness for any eventuality by the end of the first summer session.

Highest priority will be given to obtaining at least a temporary air raid alarm system distinct from the regular school bell now employed.

The corps of the defense unit here at State will be made up of the clerical and janitorial staff, since they would be readily available for assignment any time during the college day.

Assisting Dean Butler in these arrangements and also in finding adequate shelter, one of the big problems, are Mr. Harry Brakebill, business manager, and Mr. Albert Johnson, of the Electronics Radio department. Dean Butler is also working in close contact with Jesse H. McLendon, battalion chief of the San Francisco Fire Department, who has been put in charge of the city's overall disaster program.

State Colleges To Oust 134 Profs

Due to an expected decrease in enrollment next semester, San Francisco State and other state colleges will release a total of one hundred and thirty-four faculty members.

San Francisco State will lose only two members from its faculty because the enrollment is expected to take only a slight decrease here. A spokesman for the college said: "We probably won't have to fire anybody. The reduction will be taken care of in the normal end-of-year turnover."

The faculty quotas were set by the State Department of Finance in conjunction with the Education Department. This action came after the Senate Finance Committee asked that the budget for education be cut in accordance with the declining enrollments.

Figures show that San Jose State College will lose 31 teachers, leaving a faculty of 267.

Other reductions quoted were: Chico State, 9; Fresno State, 8; Los Angeles State, 8; San Diego State, 23; and Sacramento State, 2.

The Long Beach Faculty will be increased from 40 to 71, the only faculty increase in any of the State schools.

Cranford to Supervise U. S. Rec Program in Germany

By Diane Heagerty

Charles B. Cranford, associate professor of recreation, will go to Germany this summer as the U. S. specialist in Community Recreation and Sports for the United States State Department.

Cranford is one of five professors in the nation chosen on the request and approval of the U. S. High Commissioner in Germany for the State Department's exchange of person's program. He will leave for Washington D. C. on June 3 for a five-day briefing in State Department foreign policies. Cranford will then proceed to Land Bremin, Germany, an American seaport, in the British zone with a population of about 450,000. He will also go to Bremerhavin, which has a population of 110,000. Cranford will remain abroad approximately three months.

DEMOCRACY MISSION

The purpose of this trip is to help the German people to develop a more democratic way of governing themselves by building a youth activities program. Cranford will also work on a program for leisure time for youths who do not belong to an organization and on a program for the recruiting, selection and training of volunteers.

He will work with the government officials, school authorities and the university to help them understand recreational organization in this country. The youth commissioner and sports commissioner, who have already been in this country to see how we work, will aid Cranford.

Because the American way of organizing community recreation and sports is different than the German way, Cranford is going to evaluate, plan and survey his work in the light of conditions as they now exist in Germany. His background and knowledge will be his greatest asset for the program. Cranford has held several important positions in Community Recreation in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania from 1925 to 1947. An eminent author in his field, he has written seven books and has coauthored several others. He is also active in civic and political affairs pertaining to community recreation.

Cranford regards his new appointment "as a real opportunity to be of service to the U. S. High Commissioner in Germany . . . in understanding how American communities establish and provide youth activities."

"Also it is a real opportunity," Cranford said, "to gain an understanding of the program of community recreation and athletics in Germany and other countries, which I may bring back to the students here at the college, and to the recreation leaders throughout the geographical area served by the state colleges."

Workshop on Gifted Children Education Offered For Summer

A new "Workshop on the Education of Gifted Children" will be offered in the first summer session this year, according to announcement from the Director of Special Education, Dr. Leo F. Cain.

"This Workshop will deal with the problems of developing suitable educational programs for bright and gifted children," said Dr. Cain. The Division of Education, which will offer the program, stressed the point that enrollment will be limited to 30 students.

Leadership for the studies will be under the direction of the former Chief of Exceptional Children and Youth for the United States Office of Education, Dr. Elise Martens. Dr. Martens, who recently retired from this position and has taken up permanent residence in the Bay Area, was honored last month at a dinner attended by members of the International Council of Exceptional Children, who paid tribute to her efforts in this field. Dr. Martens will be assisted by staff consultants from San Francisco State and other schools, and from related outside agencies.

The workshop will commence June 25 and end August 3, and those enrolled will earn six semester units of either upper division or graduate credit. Tuition has been set at $45 for both residents and non-residents of California.

Advance registration is not required, but those planning to enroll are advised to communicate by letter with Dr. Leo Cain in care of the Director of Special Education, San Francisco State College, 124 Buchanan Street, San Francisco 2, California.

Science Professor Initiates New Lunchtime Group

Aims to Unify Students Of Math and Science

Unnamed and unorganized, an interesting new feature has been added to State College. It was initiated several weeks ago by Dr. Robert Stollberg, physical science professor, and associates. It takes place every Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m. in Room 123, Anderson Hall.

The primary aim of this new feature is to unify all students interested in science and mathematics, regardless of their personal status.

The secondary purpose is to provide a congenial atmosphere in which students and faculty can eat their lunches.

This little gathering has appropriately been nicknamed the "chomp and chatter club." There are usually several faculty members sitting around discussing problems in teaching or new scientific books or job openings with some students. And somewhere in the room, an impromptu demonstration is often being conducted.

Membership requirements for the "chomp and chatter club" are very few. The only thing members must bring are themselves, their lunches and their interest.

If this science open house is successful, says Dr. Stollberg, it will be continued on a larger and louder scale next semester.

Irving Stars as 'Orestes'

Aeschylus' "Oresteian Trilogy" will be presented on three days beginning May 31, by the Stanford Little Theatre. Tickets may be purchased from Mr. Jules Irving of the drama department, for the special price of 50 cents with a student body card. Box office admission is $1.20.

Mr. Irving is starring in the role of Orestes.

FORE-KASTER

Summer Flight

Summer vacation is at last within shouting distance away for Staters. When the last day of finals is a thing of the past, those feet that have trod so faithfully to this campus each day will march on in many a different direction and after many a different diversion.

Of course, there will be those people who are so in the habit of coming to the Buchanan Street campsite that they will continue to do so during the months of June, July and August. From the looks of past summer enrollments, the habit is mighty strong with many people.

Then there are those who, instead of spending half the day down at the office on Montgomery Street, will stay there from 8:30 to 5 for three months. Nothing new except the hours and the size of the pay check.

But to many, summer means a chance to spread one's wings, and off these people go to all corners of the earth. If you want to mix pleasure with academic pursuits, there are the various tours of study being conducted for credit throughout Europe and Asia. It sounds like a luxurious way to obtain an education.

Several Staters are tired of San Francisco's warm weather and are going to hibernate in Alaska for the summer season. The tips are sure to keep them warm next winter.

Throngs of State students always find fertile ground for transplantation in Yosemite Valley each summer. If you're lonely in the city, come on up—it's bound to be like old home week.

Some students think that by the time June 8th rolls around a well-earned vacation is due, not only a mental vacation but also a physical one. By September they're bound

Visitacion Sapaden Named Fair Queen

Represents Philippines In World Trade Fair

Miss Visitacion T. Sapaden, business administration student at the San Francisco State College, has been chosen by the Philippine Consulate General here to reign as "Princess" to represent the Philippines in the Fourth Annual World Trade Fair of San Francisco.

The World Trade Fair this year is scheduled for presentation at the Palace Hotel from May 23 to May 27. As "Princess of World Trade Week," Miss Sapaden, like other young ladies chosen to represent their respective countries, will be attired in her national dress.

The princesses will be guests of the committee at the annual world trade week luncheon at the Palace Hotel, with members of the San Francisco Consular Corps. On Friday, May 25, the princesses will gather for the annual international Ball sponsored by the Junior World Trade Association. On the "Nations on Parade" program at The Emporium they will represent their own countries.

$150 Humanities Scholarship Offer

Dr. Elias T. Arnesen, chairman of the Humanities Division, announced today that the Humanities Division is establishing a special scholarship of $150 per semester.

The scholarship will be awarded to a student who is majoring in one of the fields of the Humanities: English, Philosophy, Modern Languages or the Humanities. The first award will be made on June 4, effective for the fall term of 1951.

Any upper division or graduate student who is qualified may obtain an application blank from the secretary of the Humanities Division, Room 115, College Hall.

BLANCHE ELLSWORTH — A STATE TRADITION

Instructor Marks 25th Year on Staff

By Vic Spingolo

The College Hall office she shares with two other faculty members is bleak, long and narrow, but the area she occupies is as bright and cheerful as Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth herself. Her corner radiates the warmth and friendliness which are so characteristic of this teacher who is currently completing her 25th year on State's faculty.

Dozens of enlarged photographs virtually cover the pale blue walls with the beaming faces of her smiling family, one husband and one daughter, her happy pets, two dogs and one cat, and with the beautiful scenery of her favorite vacation spot, one cabin and plenty of outdoors, in the Sierras.

IOWA BORN

Mrs. Ellsworth, Iowa born and Grinnel educated, began teaching at S. F. State in 1926, when she was hired by the late Dr. Anderson, for whom Anderson Hall is named. With a trace of incredulity she recalls that less than a dozen instructors from that period remain on the college's teaching staff today. She has served under the administration of three presidents, including, in addition to Dr. Anderson, Dr. Alexander Roberts and, currently, President Leonard. With the retirement of Dean Ward, Mrs. Ellsworth remains as the last active member of State's original Parent-Teachers group.

The advent of Mrs. Ellsworth coincided with the enrollment of the first men allowed at State. The lone pair, they stuck together aiming at safety in numbers, was quite an oddity on a campus which still accommodated some 600 women. Mrs. Ellsworth laughingly relates, "We had five men enrolled here during my second semester, and we thought we were really co-ed. As soon as we had 13 men on campus we started a football team."

During her early years here,

BLANCHE ELLSWORTH

Mrs. Ellsworth handled all the journalistic activities of the college. She was active in organizing the Press Club, and in later bringing Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity, to State. Mrs. Ellsworth sponsored the Golden Gater, then called The Bay Leaf by the college, and either The Fig Leaf or The Bay Window by the competition, and the early Franciscan. It was while working on the yearbook that she met her future husband, who was then a salesman for a printing firm. Her husband later enrolled at State to complete his requirements for a teaching credential. According to Mrs. Ellsworth, "It was quite an experience having my husband in the student body. I certainly got the low down on what the students thought about some of my teaching colleagues."

Mrs. Ellsworth's husband is now a high school instructor in Oakland, and in June their daughter will complete the cycle when she receives her teaching credential from Stanford.

Currently, Mrs. Ellsworth teaches communications courses, and is sponsor of Sigma Delta Gamma and vice president of the Parent-Faculty Club. Her favorite hobby is handicrafts, and she plays a reportedly "terrific" game of ping pong.

In 1940 the Ellsworths discovered their personal Shangri-La at Kirkwood Lake up in the Sierra Mountains. They spent ten years completing their Lake's End Lodge and just recently finished facing their fireplace with multi-colored rocks, which were often transported long distances by both the family and friends. "Of course, everyone wanted the rock he'd contributed placed in the most advantageous spot. We nearly drove the man who cemented the stones in place crazy."

SUMMER TRIP

Each summer the Ellsworths gather up their pekinese dogs, Mink and Yukkie, and their cat, Bluebeard, and leave for the Sierras as soon as school closes. This year the vacation plans are being expanded to include a six weeks trip to Canada. Several other faculty members have become residents of Lake Kirkwood after seeing Mrs. Ellsworth's travelog display. At any hour of the day you are likely to find several teachers gazing at the collection which attracts visitors like flowers attract bees.

As much as she enjoys her summers she still looks forward each year to returning to teaching in the fall. After 25 years she still brings to the classroom the freshness and the vigor which mark the successful teacher. Twenty-five years ago they frequently mistook her for a member of the student body. Today, her students will tell you she is as much a part of the student body and State College as she was a quarter of a century ago.

Len Flynn Named Newman Chief

Len Flynn, freshman class president, was elected president of the Newman Club Wednesday, May 16, at a meeting held at Siena House, 350 Buchanan street.

Other officers elected were Chris Bianco, vice president; Lillian Rusconi, corresponding secretary; Diane Daube, recording secretary; Adelaide Michaelbook, treasurer; Vivian Rusconi, historian; and Aldo Germano, sergeant-at-arms.

"Plans for inner-Newman Club meetings with San Francisco City College and Cal have been set for next semester," stated Flynn. The club also is planning a banquet for their parents at Christmas time, Christmas caroling, a snow trip at the end of January, and various religious activities.

The annual convention of Newman Clubs, which was held in Reno, Nevada, this semester, will be held in San Francisco next year under the direction of the Newman Club here at State.

State Fair People Lauded For Efforts

Light Financial Loss Overshadowed By Fun

By Dick Williamson

Plaudits for last Friday's State Fair are still ringing in the ears of the organizers of the event as students around campus reminisce on the pleasures enjoyed by all attending the affair.

Although the fair succeeded in its prime objective of providing entertainment for the student body and faculty, it was not so successful financially, Bob Katz, administrator of student affairs, revealed Wednesday.

Events for which admission was charged, Katz said, broke even financially, but a final accounting shows an over-all loss of $280 to the Associated Students. This includes the costs of publicity, lighting and the public address system.

BOOTHS POPULAR

Campus organizations sponsoring booths during the afternoon report that customers and sponsors both found the games and concessions a fine source of entertainment. Some of the most popular of these concessions were the Alpha Chi Alpha Turtle Downs and Beta Chi Delta's Dunk the Monkey.

Perhaps the most well liked event of the afternoon was the swimming show that presented a spectacular display of diving and natatory skills by Olympic professionals and local champs alike.

Dancing was the keynote of the evening, and the catchy tunes and bright costumes of the dancers from the World Federation of Folk Dancers attracted many students from the stands to join in the schottisches and reels. Following this was social dancing in the women's gym featuring the incomparable music of Ray Hackett and his KNBC orchestra. Observers report that this was by far the most successful event of the Fair, and it attracted students from campuses around the bay area.

GOOD INVESTMENT

Commenting on the Fair, Katz said: "Although it showed a loss financially, I personally feel that this was a very good investment on the part of the Associated Students. I know of few better ways of spending our money that would bring such satisfaction to the student body as a whole. I hope it becomes a traditional annual affair."

Bill Hansen, activities commissioner, was also pleased with the outcome of the event. "It was stupendous," he said. "I want to thank everyone who had anything to do with bringing this triumph to State. The Fair could never have gone on had it not been for the constant supervision of Norry Volk, and the splendid organizing work of Chris Zieman, Angelo Rodriguez and Bob Sherman.

"Mr. Verducci and Mr. Harkness also were instrumental in the realization of the Fair. Without the work of Mary Ann Earle, Ed Simons, Dick Clark, Bob Hughes, Don Kitchner and Willis Wood, it would have been impossible.

"Once again we are assured that State has felt and first grasped a potential which can and will be realized in the future," Hansen reiterated.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Campus Ramblings

By Bonnie Rolphe

Tomorrow night will be, in a sense, the big farewell party, the time when the seniors assume the place of honor, and dance to the strains of Dick Foy and his orchestra at the Fairmont.

Tuxedo's and formals will set the mood, and the company and refreshments will carry the affair into a gala conclusion.

Yes, the Senior Ball is a big event this year. Some of the fellows who enroll in Uncle Sam's class won't be around much any more. The Senior Ball is for all of the students, however; you need not be a senior to attend.

* * *

The Board of Directors is planning the board banquet for this coming Sunday at the Normandie. The Gater publications banquet was held last Wednesday.

* * *

Well, the State Fair has been given a proper burial. And despite about a $300 loss, reports are that the organization booths provided many a chuckle and a little cash.

* * *

Beta Chi Delta won the trophy for the most original booth. This was one place where eager patrons and a somewhat fiendish sport really paid off. No other fraternity would probably have had so much success at such a venture.

* * *

Well, the end is quickly approaching, and it's none too soon. Thursday finals begin, and most everyone appreciates the fact that Memorial Day was born on Wednesday.

* * *

Sigma Pi Sigma had their informal initiation last Sunday. The pledges treated the senior members to breakfast on the beach at 6 in the morning, after which "games" were played.

Formal initiation was held at the home of George Gazulis in the afternoon. Their banquet was held at Pete's Restaurant in North Beach. Quite a day!

Alpha Phi Gamma is holding its formal initiation in Concord this evening at the home of Doug Usedom.

Joanne Hurd has recently announced her engagement to Pvt. Roger Whitney. They will be married in August.

International Relations Workshop Offered During Post Session

By Dick Larrick

During the post session of summer school the Social Science Division here will conduct a workshop in International Relations, and will hold on August 23, 24 and 25 the Third Annual Institute in International Relations.

The theme of the workshop will be "Tension and Conflict in the World Today," with a secondary theme of the prospects of a change in this picture.

According to Dr. Charles McClelland, assistant professor of history, the workshop classes this year will be conducted in an entirely different manner from previous years. The main theme will be considered from three viewpoints: that of the economist, the historian, and the anthropologist.

Dr. McClelland went on to say that in the opinion of the Social Science Department, too often public discussion groups, round tables, and forums ignore the underlying and dynamic aspects of international relations in favor of the consideration of the latest and most sensational issues as mirrored in newspaper headlines.

FUNDAMENTALS

The attention directed toward "knowing about" the succession of international incidents while desirable in itself does not lead inevitable to a mature understanding of world affairs. It is our aim, he said, to present in the workshop, in simple and direct form, a study of principles and fundamentals which make more meangful the day to day developments in international affairs. The workshop will test itself against a "case study" of specific current topics—the Institute — at the end of the three weeks session.

The Institute in International Relations will be held as the conclusion and climax of the workshop. In this three day program the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the World Affairs Council of Northern California, the American Association for the United Nations and San Francisco State College will act as sponsors and hosts to the interested public and the members of the workshop.

The subject will center on present-day United States foreign policy, in Europe and Asia, and the meetings will be addressed by a number of well-known experts on foreign policy. The program of the Institute will be announced and distributed in a few weeks.

It is expected that the institute will host representatives from many of the nation's largest colleges and universities, such as: University of Chicago, University of Minnesota, Columbia and Yale. There will be more prominent speakers and personage on campus this year than at any previous institute.

Dr. McClelland wished to emphasize the fact that the institute is a complete conference in itself, which may be attended by any interested person, but which is coordinated at the same time with the preceding workshop.

MORE INFORMATION

For more detailed information about the Workshop in International Relations, pages 5, 23 and 59 of the Summer Session Catalogue contains the basic information about cost, term, purpose and schedule of the classes.

The daily morning meetings of the workshop will be oriented steadily around the factors of poltics, economics and culture. The concentration on the culture aspect is especially significant. Each of the three instructors, Dr. McClelland, Dr. Lantos and Dr. Treganza, will direct discussion from the vantage point of their specialties.

The listing of topics to be studied from a triple viewpoint includes: The nature of modern war, the content of peace, diplomacy and the balance of power, imperialism and its after-effect, world resources and population, the question of trade, between peace and war—the United States and Russia, ideologies and their influence in world affairs, and the resolving of tensions under culture contact.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 21...

THE PELICAN

OUR easy-going, big-billed friend has learned to say "No" to these hurry-up, one-puff, one-sniff cigarette tests! "Why", says he, "they don't even give you time to finish the cigarette before you're supposed to decide which is mildest!" Millions of smokers have come to the same conclusion —there's just one real way to test the flavor and mildness of a cigarette!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke— on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed! After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

A LOOK AT... State's Side

By MARV COHN, Sports Editor

The recent demise of intercollegiate athletics around the old campus (and the new one, too) has left us with little to scribble about here, and on the rest of the page, also.

This is a common phenomenon at this time of the year at all colleges. Perhaps even a bit more so around here this year. The reason being that the track team is sending no men to any of the various post-season relays that are now becoming about as common as football's bowl games.

Some college papers can fill their sports pages with columns and columns of data about their entrant and how he figures to do in the Fresno Relays or the Modesto Relays or the Drake Relays or the Lower Slobbovia Relays.

Unlucky sports pages, like this one, can't do this. We could, of course, go on babling like this about the post-season relays that we aren't participating in. But we won't. Instead, let us change the subject to football—the next major sport on the intercollegiate athletic calendar.

BIG SEASON

This coming season should be the biggest in State's history yet. A schedule was made and approved, containing much the same opponents as in the past five years. But when San Francisco State's ties with the Far Western Conference were permanently severed, the schedule also went by the boards. A new schedule, with bigger teams, and consequently bigger money guarantees, is in the process of being approved. All the old FWC opponents, possibly save one, will be discarded.

And the team might have some nice trips in store. And it should draw more fans. And it should get more publicity in the press. So you put it all together and it adds up to the smallest turnout for spring practice in years.

All this FWC and new schedule business happened to pass after the beginning of the vernal conditioning period, but still, with a championship team last season, interest should have been at the highest point in years.

NOT TOO BAD

This might not be, however, as bad as it all sounds. All the guys are worried about the draft, and where they stand. Football might seem a little insignificant at the time. Then, there are the boys who work. Many will work after school in the spring and in the summer, so that they can devote their time to school and football in the fall.

Still, there are other prospective 1951 grid stars who are now members of other sports, but will be out in the fall. Another reason, though not too important, is that spring football practice just isn't fun. You exercise and run wind sprints and scrimmage and keep in training and beat your brains out for six weeks. And then it gets hardly any mention in the papers, nobody around school ever hears about it, and there just isn't any glory. Not that the football players around here are glory-hounds, but a few lines of publicity is fair reward for the hard work put in.

DON'T WORRY

There really is no need to worry, though. The average turnout for football in the fall is just about three times the spring turnout. If Coach Verducci had about 20 candidates this semester, in the next he should be able to have about 60 aspirants.

Many of these men will be either veterans of last year's championship squad, or else transfer students. And this season the transfers will be eligible, at least at State.

Verducci shouldn't have too much trouble in whipping up another better-than-fair ball club for State this year.

Art Valverde Leads AZS To Third Straight Title

For the third straight year, Alpha Zeta Sigma captured the intramural track championship at Cox Stadium last Friday as part of the San Francisco State Fair.

Led again by veteran performer Art Valverde, Alpha Zeta Sigma scored 75 points to easily outdistance the other six clubs. Merced Athletic Club, a new club on campus, placed second with 63 points. Other team scores: East Bay AC, who was favored to take the meet, 56; Kappa Omega, 39; Delta Phi Gamma, 26; Delta Gamma Tau, 22, and Sigma Pi Sigma, 8.

Valverde, who won the coveted Outstanding Intramural Trophy last year, placed first in the high jump with 5' 8". He took second in the broadjump with 20' ½", and the 50 yard dash final in 5.8.

Ten records were set with Delta Phi Gamma's Bob Kroeckel turning in a 10' pole vault mark. George Miller copped the 100 yard dash for Merced AC in 10.3.

Charlie Murphy tossed the faatball throw for 62 yards and 12 inches for a new record. Other records: Levinson, East Bay AC, 58.6 in the one lap run; Athanasopoulos, East Bay AC, 2:25.9 in the two lap run; Thrushard, Delta Gamma Tau, 20' 8" in the broad jump; Dees, Merced AC, 43' 11" in the shot put; Mattson, East Bay AC, 114' 3" in the discus; Merced AC, 1:55.3 in the four man medley relay; and Alpha Zeta Sigma, 51.77 in the eight man 440 yard relay.

Members of the winning Alpha Zeta Sigma team were Tony Bonaccorso, Art Valverde, Jack Caruso, Dick Boyd, Willie Barger, Don Chabot and John Truscelli.

In interclass competition, the freshman class defeated the seniors, 4 to 2.

Sport Stories In Stateside

Stateside, the college magazine, is featuring two outstanding articles on Gator athletics. One delves into the history of sports here at State. Readers of this article will be surprised to find that fencing is State's best sport, as far as winning percentage points.

The other article, written by Toni Robinson, newly appointed Golden Gater sports editor, introduces the fabulous Kevin Duggan of basketball fame at S. F. State.

The magazine may be purchased at the student body office for one dollar with a student body card and $1.50 without a card.

Sports Review

Next week's Golden Gater sports page will have a review of State's athletic feats during the past semester.

The reporters who covered the various State athletic events plan to present a special review of all the highlights of the past season.

If you were so unfortunate as to have missed a copy of the Golden Gater during the term, you might be able to catch up on what you missed by reading next week's Gater.

Table Tennis Match Tuesday

Semi-finals and finals of the college table tennis championship will be held at the Recreation Center next Tuesday afternoon at 1.

John Holden will meet Izadi Darius in one semi-final match, while Don Jewett and Wayne Murphy vie in the other. The affair, sponsored by the Recreation Department, is free. Trophies will be awarded to the champion and runner-up.

Phil Munshausen and Ella Jenkins will officiate these games.

The tournament started last Tuesday. It has become an annual event.

Grid Schedule For Fall, 1951

This is the tentative football schedule for next fall. It is still subject to change at any time. The October 26 and November 24 dates are open at present, but may be filled in the near future.

September 14, Lewis and Clark, Multnomah Field, Portland.

September 29, San Diego State, in San Francisco.

October 5, Los Angeles State in San Francisco.

October 19 or 20, College of Idaho, in San Francisco.

October 26—Open.

November 2, Alameda Naval Air Station, in San Francisco.

November 9, Laverne, in San Francisco.

November 16, Treasure Island, in San Francisco.

November 24—Open.

Toni Robinson Returns

Sports editor for the Golden Gater next semester will be Toni Robinson. Miss Robinson, Gater basketball and track writer this semester, will be serving in the editorial capacity for the second time, as she was sports editor in the fall semester of 1950.
